U.N. Asian-African Resolution On End to Colonialism Passes

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly Monday night overwhelmingly approved an Asian-African resolution setting up a 17-nation committee to recommend steps for a speedy end to colonialism.

It did so after rejecting Soviet amendments that would have had the assembly proclaim 1962 as "the year of the elimination of colonialism."

The resolution sponsored by 38 Asian-African nations and supported by the United States was approved by a vote of 97 to 0 with four abstentions—Britain, France, South Africa and Spain.

Portugal was listed as not participating.

The vote on the Soviet amendment was 19 in favor, 46 opposed and 36 abstentions.

Earlier U.S. Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson circulated a memorandum to all U.N. members accusing the Soviet Union of trying to prevent the United Nations from putting the spotlight on enslavement of millions of people behind the Iron Curtain.

The blast is scheduled Dec. 10 by the Atomic Energy Commission's first experiment to turn the fury of nuclear explosions to useful jobs.

Ultimate hopes include blasting out harbors or canals or using the fireball heat to produce electric power.

Rockefeller Still Searches For Son as Hope Fades

PRIMAPOEN, New Guinea (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, his face drawn and downcast as the first really hopeful clue faded, flew personally to this jungle search camp yesterday in an apparent last-ditch effort to find his son.

The governor made the trip in a Catalina flying boat after smoke, which raised hopes when it was spotted Sunday, turned out to be a native fire without connection to 23-year-old Michael. He has been missing since he tried to swim to shore from a capsized boat nine days ago.

The governor's flight over the steamy jungle was his second since his arrival last week and the first time he landed near the waters in which Michael was last seen.

Bloody Weekend Occurs As 16 Die in Algerian War

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—Fresh flareups of street fighting and terrorist violence killed 16 persons and injured 30 more across Algeria Monday following one of the bloodier weekends of the seven-year French-Algerian war.

Mexican Political Editor Beaten to Death in Hotel

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP)—The political columnist of the morning daily newspaper Noticias was beaten to death early yesterday.

He was Carlos Estrada Sastre, 36.

Jose Garduno, publisher of Noticias, said it was the fourth time in the last three months that newspaper men critical of the state government of Gov. Eligio Esquivel had been beaten.

The political editor was found lying in a pool of blood on the floor of his hotel room. Police said his skull had been fractured, probably by blows from an automobile tire iron.

FORMS DUE TOMORROW

Applications for Sentinel business manager and M-Book Committee chairman are due at the Lodge desk 4 p.m. Wednesday, according to Doug Grimm, Publications Board chairman.

Applicants for the two posts will be interviewed by Publications Board in Committee Room 2 at that time.

KAT Defeats Turner A, Plays Turner B for Title

Kappa Alpha Theta defeated Turner A yesterday in the WRA double-elimination volleyball tournament and will move into the championship games against Turner B today at 4:15 p.m. in the Women's Center.

Turner A lost to Kappa Alpha Theta, 14 to 8 and 15 to 1, with Mary Lou Dwyer of Theta scoring eight points to be high-point winner of the round.

Turner B has won eight games and has gone undefeated in the volleyball play-off. Kappa Alpha Theta has bowed twice to Turner B totaling six wins and two losses. The winner of two out of three games in today's round will receive a trophy, according to Pete Johnson, WRA volleyball manager.

Corps Schedules Entrance Tests

Peace Corps entrance tests are scheduled for 8:30 a.m. at the main post office Nov. 28 and 29.

The test is not competitive and persons with all educational backgrounds are eligible. The Peace Corps is seeking persons with experience or training in agriculture, trades, crafts, teaching, public health and other fields to take part in developing nations of Latin America, Africa and Asia, according to V. M. Gilbert, Peace Corps liaison representative.

Three Lawyers, Accountant to Be Institute Speakers

Four more speakers at the law school's 1961 Institute on Taxation and Estate Planning, scheduled for Friday and Saturday, have been announced by Lester R. Rusoff, director.

David Koenigsberg, chief of the Technical and Uniform Audit Function of the San Francisco office of the Internal Revenue Department, will talk on tax deductions for travel and entertainment.

Mr. Koenigsberg is a certified public accountant and has been with IRS since 1935, Mr. Rusoff said.

Three Billings attorneys will also appear on the Tax institute program.

Jack W. Burnett, a graduate of MSU, will talk on principles of estate planning.

He is a member of the Tax Section Committee and Procedure in Fraudulent Cases of the American Bar Association and a member of the American Judicature Society, Mr. Rusoff said.

John M. Dietrich Jr., also an MSU graduate, will speak on "The Adoption of a Statute Providing for Professional Associations," Mr. Rusoff said. Mr. Dietrich participated in the MSU Tax Institute and in the New York University Tax Institute in 1956.

Roy V. Morledge Jr., a graduate of Stanford University, will talk on "Tax Savings During Probate," Mr. Rusoff said. He is a member of the ABA Section of Taxation Committee on Tax Fraud Prosecutions.

Bowles Named Adviser In Governmental Change

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chester Bowles, just relieved as undersecretary of state, yesterday was named a special adviser to President Kennedy on African, Asian and Latin-American affairs.

Bowles' new assignment was announced after he visited the White House and discussed it with Kennedy.

The White House said Bowles accepted the appointment at that time.

TV Scholarship Will Be Awarded

Applications for a $150 scholarship in educational TV will be received in the Dean of Students office from now through Dec. 4, according to Andrew C. Cogswell, dean of students.

The scholarship is sponsored by the Montana Cable Association. Junior, senior or graduate students who have exhibited an interest in educational TV are eligible.

Applicants should address a letter to the University Scholarship Committee supplying information relative to grade index, major field of study, experience if any in the radio or television fields, financial need and anything else the applicant deems pertinent, Cogswell said.

Each application should be accompanied by two letters of recommendation from persons who know the applicant well.

Speech Tourney Debaters Reach Elimination Bracket

Carl Cunningham and Jerry Nofsinger debated their way into the elimination round of the Western Speech Association Tournament at Fresno State College, Fresno, Calif.

Dinner, Show Will Highlight Club Activity

Cosmopolitan Club is sponsoring an International Dinner and Floor Show next Sunday evening at 6:30 p.m., according to Henry Joe, president.

"The two main reasons for the dinner at the Immanuel Lutheran Church are to acquaint the residents of Missoula with the persons and cultures from foreign lands," he said, "and to raise funds for the Cosmopolitan treasury."

He said that the dinner, at $1.50 a plate, will consist of such foreign cuisine as Chinese Sweet and Sour Spareribs, Burmese Curried Chicken, East Indian Keema and Arabic Rice Pilaf.

The floor show will consist of a number of acts representing foreign countries such as an Indian Fakir lying on a bed of spikes and Spanish classical guitar selections.

Joe said that free transportation will be provided for students in front of the Lodge at 6 p.m. on Sunday evening.

Tickets for the dinner will be on sale in the Lodge through Saturday.

Application Date For Model U.N. Set Tomorrow

Deadline for Model United Nations applications has been extended to Wednesday at 3 p.m., according to Albert C. Stillson, advisor to Model U.N.

Applications may be obtained from the Political Science Office.

Persons who have turned applications in after Nov. 21 are asked to report to Committee Room 3 Wednesday at 7 p.m. for an interview.

Willamette Wins Region 14 Moot Court Competition

The Willamette University moot court team from Salem, Ore., defeated the team from the University of Washington in the finals of the Region 14 moot court competition Saturday at MSU.

MSU was defeated by Washington in the first round of the arguments Friday.

Willamette will go to the national finals in New York in December. Willamette won the national finals in 1959.

Runnerup Washington won the regional award for the best brief, three volumes donated by the West Publishing Co., St. Paul, Minn.

The prizes for the best individual argument went to Paul A. Webber of the University of Washington. He won a silver bowl from the American College of trial lawyers and a four volume set on evidence from Bancroft-Whitney, San Francisco, Calif.

The Willamette team is composed of William M. McAllister, Medford, Ore., A. Thomas Niebergall, Bend, Ore., and Ronald M. Somers, Oswego, Ore. Faculty adviser to the team is Prof. Alister McAllister.

The competition is sponsored by the Young Lawyers Committee of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York.

Nofsinger and Cunningham, representing the MSU Debate and Oratorical Association, defeated San Francisco State College, Los Angeles State College, California Institute of Technology and Pacific Lutheran University before being eliminated by the University of Hawaii and Redlands University, national champion of the Intercollegiate Forensic Tournament in 1960-61.

Eighty colleges and universities were registered for the tournament Nov. 20-22.

Proposition debated was "Resolved: That labor organizations should be under the jurisdiction of antitrust legislation."

Ralph Y. McGinnis, director of the Debate and Oratorical Association, attended the Western Speech Association convention in Reno after the tournament. Mr. McGinnis served on the constitution committee and in the legislative assembly.

T-Board Wants Frosh Beanies

"We favor freshmen buying and wearing beanies during the first week of school," said Hal Woods, chairman of Traditions Board, yesterday.

The beanie question has been bouncing around for quite awhile according to Woods. He said that Traditions Board is going to bring the question before Central Board after the Spurs and Bearpaws discuss their willingness to enforce the wearing of beanies.

Woods said that although the freshmen have to buy the beanies, they are allowed in dances free if they wear the beanies.

Woods said that the main reason for the beanies was to unify the freshman class to provide class spirit which otherwise might be lacking.

He said that Traditions Board was planning a 10-minute pep rally in the Lodge Grill on Thursday night from 9:45 until 10 p.m.

Woods said that the cheer leaders will be there and that he hopes a good percentage of the student body will attend. He said that Miss Gertrude Chamberlin, director of the food service, had approved the plans. "But it's still only in the planning stage," Woods said.

Last week the Kaimin presented the conservative views of the political spectrum. Today the Kaimin presents the liberal side. Next quarter, if interest continues, the Kaimin will be glad to present views of the left and right from persons who do not completely agree with the views presented.

What Is Liberalism?

William Burke

Joe Reber

What is liberalism? The liberal is reluctant to give an inflexible definition of liberalism. For liberalism embraces the acceptance of change and innovation. This is the philosophy of liberalism because the liberal is not always ready to conform to or to accept the status quo. Especially when that status quo impedes if not limits improvement in the political, economical, and social realms.

The position of liberalism rests upon the proposition that the Constitution is a document which must be interpreted in the light of existing conditions. For the past is to be but a guide and not a god. As Jefferson said, "No doubt that the present generation will consequently be as much wiser than we have been as we than our fathers were, and they the burners of witches."

Thomas Huxley stated, "The future of the world lies in the hands of those who are able to carry the interpretation of nature a step further than their predecessors."

The Constitution is a living and a growing organism with its basic premise of working for humanity. This generation must not stand in the shadows of the past but on the shoulders of the past willing to build, and to improve, and to seek better men and better laws. This has been and must continue to be the tradition of the liberal.

In our age, the liberal works in the world with a spirit of internationalism rather than with the decadent spirit of nationalism. For the stakes are much greater and the problems more difficult. No longer can his soul be content to work for human rights within the confines of his own locality, when these rights are disregarded elsewhere. As Herbert Vere Evatt, Australia's representative to the United Nations in 1945, expressed, "We must work so that men in all lands may yet live out their lives in freedom from fear and want."

Evaluating the problems in our country, the liberal stresses the need for social security, old-age pensions, insurance for the aged and the needy, and the fulfillment of civil liberties for all. The conservatives are quite right in their assumption that these mean a welfare state.

Furthermore the liberal supports the government regulation of industry which means that he is against laissez-faire economy. For this was the economy that produced the evils of the sweatshop, and child labor, and that degraded the status of the common man.

With regards to the problem of Communism, the liberal often is accused of trying to appease instead of taking a firm stand opposing Communism. However, the liberal refuses to accept the assumption that there are only two alternatives—that of resorting to force or that of surrendering—both of which are negative approaches.

On the contrary he looks for positive solutions, ones which do not embrace isolation or resorting to the principle of an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth, practices of the 19th century. Rather he must attempt to explore the ways of surviving with them.

As Associate Justice William O. Douglas pointed out, "Mingling with them to know them—arguing and debating with them—these things should preoccupy us . . . for they are a vital part of the world and the problem of finding ways to survive with them is the greatest one facing our civilization."

Thus the liberal stands for humanity. It is his belief that the Constitution is for all the people and not any particular class. And when this constitution fails to work to the advantage of all the people, then it has failed.

Student Asks for Clarification of Recent YAF Activities

To the Kaimin:

David Hunt's incisive commentary on the latest meeting of the Young Americans for Freedom doubtless will be misinterpreted by members of the YAF; this seems particularly likely in regard to Mr. Hunt's note of the need or censuring recent YAF activities.

Mr. Hunt probably is confused (certainly I am) concerning the aims of the local YAF; the confusion is complicated by reports of dissension within the group itself. Is the Missoula YAF a junior version of the John Birch Society, or is it a group of conservatives interested in preserving individual liberties in much the same way that conventional liberals are interested in this problem? Judging by conversations with YAF members and observation of YAF activities, the YAF is sometimes one, sometimes the other.

Open Mind's View Of Censureship

To the Kaimin:

After reading the "open-minded" and "democratic" opinions on censureship in last Friday's Kaimin, I feel that a few comments are called for.

The author of the letter advocated censureship of Young Americans for Freedom because we made possible the airing and sanction of views which he disagrees with. Perhaps he should be told that, while many of us are in ROTC, we are not yet a group of army generals subject to civilian control. He might also be reminded that this university is not a church (hardly), that the professors are not ministers whose words we have to accept as gospel truths, and that we cannot be excommunicated for preaching heresies.

By the way, what gives anyone the right to pass judgment on the opinions of YAF and to decide what should be censured? Maybe he has been reading too many Fulbright reports lately and they have affected his reasoning ability. You might switch off to Buckley for a couple of weeks. I'm sure it would do wonders for you. You describe yourself as, "a self-styled young American for survival." I think you might have better used the phrase, "A self-styled god." If we ever start throwing around reckless charges and engage in other disreputable practices, then you'll have every right to brand us as "no good witch hunting sons-of-Birchers," and censure us. But you certainly don't possess that right, now.

YAF fully realizes that it expresses a minority viewpoint on this campus. It further realizes that it would be viewed more favorably if its members were to replace their Goldwater lapel labels with "I Hate Nutter," buttons, and parade through town with homespun UN flags. But since this is not the case I guess you'll just have to practice peaceful coexistence with us, and let us be. After all, you don't want to give us a persecution complex, do you?

JIM PALMER

Hi Neighbor!

I'm Reddy Kilowatt, the symbol of your friendly Montana Power Company. All of us 1,200 folks at Montana Power are working hard to make Montana a better place to live, just like you are. So next time you see one of us, just say "Hi, Neighbor!" And we'll be proud to say it right back to you!

THE

The Missoula YAF should make a distinct, public statement of its genuine aims. Ordinarily reliable persons reported that the YAF had a hand in the anonymous phone threats that resulted in cancellation of a United Nations observance. Did the YAF actually participate in this clandestine activity? What is the YAF position regarding the right of assembly for conservatives and liberals alike?

In regard to international relations, the YAF position is equally unclear. At least one foreign student has reported an instance wherein he was threatened by YAF members. Such threats are gratuitous insults against persons who have undergone security screening, and who are our allies—at least at the time they enter this country. If heckling of foreign students is a practice of the YAF, some form of censureship certainly is in order.

Although I believe man's essential nature is one of reason, I realize many persons do not share this view; although I believe the United Nations is the best existing institution for bringing the United States and the Soviet Union to reason together, I realize that many persons believe issues can be settled ultimately only in war. I would never suggest that opinions contradicting my own should be censured, however, because it seems that truth is most likely to be achieved by a sometimes violent interplay of opinions.

No one, after a careful and reasoned consideration, is likely to advocate censorship of ideas. The question, however, is whether intolerance should be censured. Attempts to suppress a peaceful pub-

Intrasquad Tilts Tune Up Grizzly Basketball Squad

Tuning up for the opening of the basketball season Friday and Saturday nights against the Oregon State Beavers, the Grizzlies played two intrasquad games last weekend in the University Field House.

In Friday night's game the Red team walloped the Blue team 72 to 49 in a one-sided contest. Junior Ray Lucien, Baton Rouge, La., was high scorer for the Reds with 20, followed by sophomore Tim Aldrich, Missoula, with 18 points. High for the Blues was senior guard Butch Hendricks, Missoula, with 18, followed by sophomore Harold Fullerton, Ronan, with 8 points.

Saturday night's game was more evenly matched with the Reds squeezing by the Blues 55 to 50.

The Oregon State Beavers invade the Grizzly Field House this weekend to kick off the 1961-62 basketball season. Last year the Beavers won 14 and lost 12. They will be stronger this season, according to head mentor Slat Gill, although five lettermen were lost. Heading the list of Beaver prospects is sophomore 7-0 center Mel Counts, who averaged more than 27 points per game last season as a frosh.

Tentative starting forwards for the Beavers are 6-7 Jay Carty and 6-4 Steve Pauly. At the guard positions probably will be 6-1 Gary Rossi and 6-6 Bob Jacobson.

Montana's cage team plays Oregon State Friday and Saturday and next Monday and Tuesday travels to Seattle for two tilts with the Washington Huskies. On Dec. 15 and 16 the Grizzlies play in the Eastern Montana Tournament in Billings with Wyoming, Montana State College, and Eastern Montana.

Idaho entertains the Grizzly cagers Dec. 23 and the return engagement at the Field House is set for Jan. 2.

During the Christmas vacation, Dec. 27, the MSC Aggies invade the home of the Grizzlies for a continuation of the grudge series that began on the gridiron this fall in Bozeman.

The final season of Skyline Conference basketball begins on the MSU home court Jan. 6 as a strong Brigham Young contingent will tackle the Grizzly hoopsters. Thirteen conference games will follow and also one non-conference tilt against MSC.

Grid Team Selection Made

Selection of an all-opponent and all-Skyline team made by the Grizzly gridders was dominated by Skyline powers Wyoming, Utah, and Utah State.

All-Skyline selections were: ends Marvin Holmes and Marvin Fleming, Utah; tackles Merlin Olsen and Clark Miller, USU; guards Darryl Matthews, Wyoming, and Willie Redmond, USU; and center Gene Scott, New Mexico.

In the backfield was quarterback Chuck Lamson, Wyoming; halfbacks Bobbie Santiago, New Mexico, Eldon Fertie, BYU, and Tom Larscheid, USU; and fullback Bob Bisacre, Wyoming.

The all-opponent team added end Reggie Carolan of Idaho.

Season Will Be 22nd for Frosty

Montana's veteran basketball mentor Forrest B. (Frosty) Cox will open his 22nd year of coaching and his sixth season as head coach at MSU this weekend.

Since he took over as Grizzly mentor in 1955, Cox's teams have won 70 games and lost 71. Last season's 14-9 mark was the best Grizzly record with Cox as coach.

During a 15-year reign as head coach at Colorado from 1936-50, his teams won three Skyline championships, tied for the title once and won the National Invitation Tournament in 1940. His teams were nationally ranked for five years from 1938-46.

Cox retired from the coaching game in 1950 to enter the cattle-ranching business with his brother in Kansas, but re-appeared on the coaching scene as Montana coach in 1955.

Cox's teams are always respected around the Skyline Conference, and hopes exist this year for a third, second or even first-place finish.

First Law School Court Case Tested in Fifty Year History

The law school was the scene of the first actual court case in its 50 year history yesterday morning, according to Gardner Cromwell, associate professor of law.

The trial was held in the courtroom of the Law building because the Missoula County courtroom was not available.

Judge Victor H. Fall, First Judicial District, Helena, presided over the suit involving an injunction brought by H. G. Maclay preventing the Montana State Highway Commission from constructing a guardrail on Highway 93.

Judge Fall ruled Maclay cannot prevent the Highway Commission from putting up the guardrail, but he can sue for damages that result.

If you think you're seeing more Marlboro men lately, you're right. More than 25,000 smokers all over the country are switching to Marlboro every month!

You'll know why when you try them.

Marlboro is the filter cigarette with the unfiltered taste. The secret of the flavor is the famous Marlboro recipe from Richmond, Virginia... and the pure white Selectrate filter that goes with it.

Try Marlboro and judge for yourself. On or off campus, you get a lot to like.
